Vidéographe

Established in 1971 in Montréal, Vidéographe is an artist-run centre dedicated to the research and the dissemination of moving image practices. This includes experimentation in video art, animation, digital arts, documentary, essay, fiction and dance video. Our mission revolves around five main aspects: showcasing moving image practices and developing audiences through programming activities that highlight the plurality of the artistic practice; ensuring the distribution of works and the fair payment of artists fees; promoting development and research through the provision of support and advice to artists, researchers and curators as well as access to resources and expertise; supporting the acquisition of professional expertise and the development of the media arts community; building its collection and ensuring accessibility. We are dedicated to promoting the recognition and understanding of current and archival works equally.

Digital exploration and outreach activities

As an artist-run centre, Vidéographe is committed to creating a positive societal impact through its Digital exploration and outreach program. We believe that exposure to the arts can have important positive impacts and can play a significant part in academic and social success. Through its education and outreach program, Vidéographe offers opportunities for learning and artistic creation to adolescents and young adults. The activities take place in our partner spaces and at Vidéographe.
